TOUCH US GENTLY. TIME.

BY BARRY CORNWALL.

Touch us gently, Time ! Let us glide adown thy stream Gently-as we sometimes glide Through a quiet dream. Humble voyagers are we, Husband, wife, and children three-(One is lost—an angel, fled To the azure overhead!)

Touch us gently, Time! We've not proud or soaring wings; Our ambition, our content, Lies in simple things. Humble voyagers are we O'er life's dim, unsounded sea.

Seeking only some calm clime: Touch us gently, gentle Time !

They carried on trade without books, and correspondence without posts; their merchants kept no accounts, their shopkcepers no cash-hooks; they had surgery without anatomy, and physicians without materia medica; they gave emeties without ipeeacuanha, and cured agues without hark.

A PRETTY IDEA.-Dr. P--, who is attached to the Parisan theatre in quality of a physician, expressed his astonishment that man and woman were not created at the same time, instead of the latter springing from the rih of our first parent. A young actress standing by, remarkable for the graceful turn which she gives to the expression of her ideas, immediately said—" Was it not natural, sir, for the flower to come after the stem ?"

A fellow describing his wife, to whom he had been recently married, to an absent friend, said-"She has a small mouth, a plump, pretty neither into the sea nor the land, as has been done face, lively eyes, and a temper-whew! it's as explosive as gun-cotton!"

PLANT TREES .- The man who plants a tree, liquidates in part a debt which he owes to his ancestors, by paying it to posterity. A sensible writer says: - There is no part of hasbandry which men more commonly fail in, neglect, and have cause to repent of, than that they did not seasonably begin to plant trees, without which they can neither expect fruit, ornament nor delight fom their labors. Men seldom begin to plant trees till they begin to be wise-that is, till they grow Let vain and busy thoughts have there no part; old, and tind by experience the prudence and ne-Christ purged his temple, so must thou thy beart cessity of it. When Ulysses, after ten years' ab-He that loves God's abode, and to combine [shine, sence, was returned from Troy, and found his With saints on earth, shall one day with them aged father in the field planting trees, he asked Good Retort.—A himorous young man was driving a horse, which was in the habit of stop- that of which he was never likely to enjoy the ping at every house on the road-side. The application is obvious,

AWFUL WARNING .- "My son," said an old turporch commenced a hearty laugh, and some in baned Turk one day, taking his child by the hand quired if he would sell that horse? "Yes," said in the street of Cairo, and pointing out to him, on the young man, "but I cannot recommend him, the opposite side, a Frenchman just imported, in as be once belonged to a butcher, and stops when-all the elegance of Parisian costume: "My son, ever he hears any calves bleat." Him shall the scorn and wrath of men

Pursue with deadly aim:

And malice, envy, spite and lies, Shall desecrate his name.

But truth shall conquer at the last, For round and round we run,

And ever the right comes uppermost, And ever is justice done.

Pace through thy cell, old Socrates, Cheerily to and fro;

Trust to the impulse of thy soul, And let the poison flow.

They may shatter to earth the lamp of elay That holds a light divine,

But they cannot quench the fire of thought By any such deadly wine;

They cannot blot thy spoken words From the memory of man,

By all the poison ever was brewed Since time its course began.

To-day abhorred, to-morrow adored, So round and round we run, And ever the truth comes uppermost, And ever is justice done.

The saints that we adore.

The blind can see, the slave is lord: So round and round we run:

And ever the wrong is proved to be wrong, And ever is justice done.

Keep, Galileo, to thy thought, Aud nerve thy soul to bear;

They may gloat o'er the senseless words they From the pangs of thy despair: [wring

They may veil their eyes, but they cannot hide The sun's meridian glow; The heel of a priest may tread thee down,

And a tyrant work thee wo;

But never a truth has been destroyed: They may curse it and call it erime;

Pervert and betray, or slander and slay

Its teachers for a time; But the sunshine aye shall light the sky,

As round and round we run; And the truth shall ever come uppermost, And justice shall be done.

And live there now such men as these-With thoughts like the great of old?

Many have died in their misery, And left their thought untold; And mauy live, and are ranked as mad, And placed in the cold world's ban, For sending their bright, far-seeing souls Three centuries in the van. They toil in penury and grief, Unknown, if not maligned; Forlorn, forlorn, bearing the scorn

Of the meanest of mankind. But yet the world goes round and round, And the genial seasons run,

And ever the truth comes uppermost, And ever is justice done.

TAKING IT COOLLY .- The hattle-ground of Bladensburgh, near Washington City. whence a numerous array of Virginia and Maryland Militia ran away, without firing a shot, from a smaller British force intent on the hurning of the Capital, is not a favorite resort for Americans, but foreigners sometimes visit it, and a lazy, lank, lop-sided Marylander, who did n't fight in the hattle hecause he ran off like the rest, picks up a trifle now and then by acting as a guide and topographer. A British officer, who was his customer some time since, could not repress his surprise that a large force so strongly posted should have run away at length inquired of his guide—"How could your people have run away, with such odds in their favor?" "Well," said the guide, touched in a Chesterfield tender point by the hluntness of the question, and physician that he was dying hy inches, "thanked turning his quid as he scratched his head, "some- heaven he was not so tall by a foot as Sir Thomas how or 'nother, they did n't seem to take no interest." Robinson."

THE LEARNED ELEPHANT.—" That 's a werry knowin' hanimal of yours," said a cockney gentleman to the keeper of an elephant. "Very," was the cool rejoinder. "He performs strange tricks and hantics, does he?" inquired the cockney, eyeing the animal through his glass. prising," retorted the keeper; "we've learned him to put money in that box you see up there Try him with a crown." The cockney banded the elephant a crown piece, and sure enough, he took it in his trunk and placed it in a box, high out of reach. "Well, that is werry hextraordinary—hastonishing, truly!" said the green one, opening his eyes. "Now let's see him take it out opening his eyes. "Now let's see him take it out and hand it back." "We never learns him that trick," retorted the keeper, with a roguish leer; and he turned away to stir up the monkeys and punch the hyenas.

WIVES -- Women should be acquainted that no beauty has any charms but the inward one of the mind; and that a gracefulness in their manners is much more engaging than that of their person; and that modesty and meekness are the true and lasting ornaments; for she that has these is qualified as she ought to be for the management of a family, for the education of children, for the affec-tion of her husband, and submitting to a prudent from one smaller and far more exposed, and he render wives amiable, and give them the best

OUR BESSIE.

Our Bessie was as sweet a girl As ever happy mother kissed, And when our Father called her home, How sadly was she missed! For, grave or gay, or well or ill, She had her thousand winning ways, And mingled youthful innocence With all her tasks and plays.

How softly beamed her happy smile, Which played around the sweetest mouth That ever fashioned infant words;

The sunshine of the South,

30 Th

Mellowed and soft, was in her eye, And brightened through her golden hair; And all that lived and loved, I ween,

Did her affection share.

With reverent voice she breathed her prayer, With gentlest tones she sung her hymn; And when she talked of heaven, our eyes With tears of joy were dim.

Yet in our selfish grief we wept When last her lips upon us smiled; Oh! could we, when our Father called, Detain the happy child?

Our home is poor, and cold our clime, And misery mingles with our mirth: 'T was meet our Bessie should depart From such a weary earth

Oh! she is safe-no cloud can dim The brightness of her ransomed soul; Nor trials vex, nor tempter lure

Her spirit from its goal.

We wrapt her in her snow-white shroud, And crossed, with sadly tender care, Her little hands upon her breast,

And smoothed her sunny hair. We kissed her cheek, and kissed her brow, And if aright we read the smile

That lingered on the dear one's lips, It told of heaven the while!

W. H. BURLEIGH.

No one tears his pantaloens, but it is no rare thing for him to lacer-The ladies don't go visiting-they ate them. only make calls. Young men do n't go courtingthey only step in to spend the evening.

INTELLIGENT FREEMEN .- During the canvass of '44, from a certain newspaper office in Coonecticus projected a flag, inscribed "Polk, Dallas, Oregon and Texas." Two men viewing it one day ooe ejaculated, "They wil get my vote." "And mine, too." was the reply; "they are four as likely men as there are in the United States."

DESCRIBING BY CONTRARIES .- " Mr. Simpson. you've been at Washington often, and must have seen Cave Johnson-what sort of a man is he?" "Why, you've heard of the Mammoth Cave, have n't you?" "Yes." "Well, that is n't him."

INTEMPERANCE .- A fellow in Bangor, with the dis poker?" capacity of a Falstaff, recently sucked thirty-seven eggs at a sitting, hecause they were given to him! to employ him to crow at elections.

HEATING THE POKER .- When Dr. Franklin all owing to a vixen of a girl saying she wouldn't: was agent in England for the Province of Pennsylvania, he was frequently applied to by the Ministry for his opinion respecting the Stamp Act; but his answer was uniformly the same-that the people of America would never submit to it Af-ter the news of the destruction of the stamped paper had arrived in England, the Minister again sent for the Doctor to consult with, and in conclusion offered this proposal: That if the Americans would engage to pay for the damage done in the destruction of the stamped paper, etc. the Parliament would then repeal the Act. The Doctor, having paused upon the question for some time, at last answered it as follows: "This puts me in mind of a Frenchman who, having heated a poker red-hot, ran furiously into the street, and addressed the first Englishman he met there-'Hah! Monsieur, give me de plaisir, de satisfae-

Mr. Van Buren in 1844 reäffirmed and enforced the doctrine laid down by Mr. Forsyth in 1837, as still pertinent and impregnable, notwithstanding the long cessation of aetual hostilities against Texas by Mexico. In his letter to Mr. Hammett he said:

"If, as sensible men, we cannot avoid the conclusion that the immediate Annexation of Texas would draw after it a War with Mexico, can it be expedient to attempt it?

"Could we hope to stand justified in the eyes of mankind for entering into such a war? more especially if its commencement is to be preceded by the appropriation to our swn uses of the territory the sovereignty of which is in dis pute between two nations, one of which we are to join in the hard between two nations, one of which we are standard atruggle? This, Sr. is a matter of the very gravest import—one in respect to which or American statesman or citizen can possibly afford to be indifferent. We have a character that is the highest property of the control of among the nations of the earth to maintain. It has hitherto been our pride and boast that, while the lust of power, with fraud and violence io its train, has led other and differently constituted Governments to aggression and conquest, our movements in these respects h ve always been regulated by ceason and justice. Should out every one, then, who serverly loves his country, consider, and that deeply, whether we would not, by the immediate Annexation of Texas, place a weapon io the hands of those who look upon us with distrustful and envious eyes, that would do us more real, lasting injury as a nation than the acquisition of such territory, valuable as it is, could possibly repair!"

Can the bearing of this on the right and wrong of the present War be misunderstand?

About the same time. (April 17, '44.) Mr. Clay, in atter ignorance of Mr. Van Buren's letter, wrote from Raleigh to the National Intelligencer a frank and brief exposition of ary of Texas, in addition to Schator BEN his nwn reasons for opposing the Annexation scheme, whenee the following is an extract:

"Mexico has oot ahandoned, but perseveres in the asserion of her right [to Texas] by actual force of arms, which, if suspended are mended to be renewed. Such was then the universal sentiment of the entire Whig party and a majority of the Loen-Focos who had any opinion of their own, throughout the Free States at least.

Mr. Clay, writing (Sept. 23) his last public letter before the Presidential Election, reiterated his inflexible hostility to Annexation while Texas should enntinne at war with and her independence unrecognized by Mexico, saving,

In perfect accordance with this, Gen. 1st. That the present War was brought about by the Annexation of Texas and the subsequent order of the President, without the previous consent and authority of Congress. 1. Resolved, As the opinion of this meeting, that the United States for the removal of the army under eral institutions; and we anxiously hope that each the command of Gen. Taylor, from its position at nation may be left in the undisturbed possession Corpus Christi to a point opposite of Metamoros, of its own laws, language, cherished religion and on the east hauk of the Rio Bravo, within the territory claimed hy both Republics, but then under the jurisdiction of that of Mexico, end inhabited hy its citizens; and that the order of the Pres dent for the removal of the army to that point, was improvident and unconstitutional, it being without the concurrence of Congress, or even any consulta-tion with it, although it was in session; but that Congress having, by subsequent acts, recognized the War thus brought into existence without its previous authority or consent, the prosecution of it hecame thereby National.

2. Resolved, That, in the absence of any formal and public declaration by Congress of the objects for which the War nught to be prosecuted, the Pres-dent of the United States, as Chief Magistrate and as Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy of the United States, is left to the guidance of his own judgment to prosecute it for such purposes and objects as he may deem the honor and interest of the nation to require.

3. Resolved, That by the Constitution of the United States, Congress, being invested with power to declare War, and grant letters of marque and reprisal, to make rules concerning captures on land known; who are anxious to avert present and foand water, to raise and support aimies, to provide and maintain a navy, and to moke rules for the gnvernment of the land and naval forces, has the full and complete war-making power of the United States; and, so possessing it, has a right to determine upon the motives, canses and objects of any their views, feelings and apinions. War, when it commences, or at any time during the progress of its existence.

4. Resolved, As the farther opinion of this meeting, that it is the right and duty of Congress to declare, by some authentic act, for what curposes and had trespassed upon the meeting, and thankobjects the existing War ought to be farther pros-cuted; that it is the duty of the President, in his official conduct, to conform to such a declaration of Congress; and that, if after such declaration the President should decline or refuse tn endeavor, hy all the means, civil, diplomatic, and military, in his power, to execute the annunced will of Congress, and, in defiance of its authority, should con-tinue to prosecute the War for purposes and ob-jects other than those declared by that body, it would become the right and duty of Congress to adopt the most efficacious measures to arrest the faither progress of the War, taking care to make ample provision for the honor, the safety and security of our armies in Mexico, in every contingency. And, if Mexico should decline ar refuse to conclude a treaty with us, stipulating for the purposes end abjects so declared by Cong ess, it would be the duty of the Government to prosecute the War with the utmost vigor, until they were uttained by a treaty of peace.

5 Resolved, That we view with serious alarm, and are utterly opnosed to any purpose of unnexing Mexico to the United States. in any mode, and especially by conquest; that we helieve the two nations could not be heapily governed by one common anthority, owing to their great difference of race, law, language, and religiou, and the vast extent of their respective territories, and large amount of their respective populations; that such union, egainst the consent of the exasperated Mexican people, could only be effected and preserved by large standing armies, and the constant been refused to be received.

After the murder of Gov. Bent, Col. Price, as senior military officer, took executive command in New-Mexico; and, beside the usual turbulence of a newly-subjected people, there has transpired nothing worthy of special note.

During the operations on the Rio Grande, and until after the fall of Monterey, important events were transpiring in the Californias. Several considerable battles had been fought, which placed our army in full possession of the Provinces of New-Mexico, New-Leon and the Californias—a territory larger in extent than the original thirteen States, inbabited by a considerable population, and more than 1,000 miles from the points at which the Americans commenced their movements. THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE.

so calmly, it will be conducted singgishly and ter-shall be unsparing, necompromising and subject to minated without excitement. Whoever cherishes no consideration of Party advantage or Presidential such an illusion mistakes the character of the triumph. Far sooner will we sink with our princi-American People and the impolses which sway ples than succeed without them, however desira-them. Equally idle is the imaginotion that Party ble success or bowever mortifying defeat. lines ore to be effaced and broken down in this contest-that the prestige of some heroic achievement to all classes of readers by the follness of its intelor the glitter of an epaulette is to chase from the ligence as well as the fairness of its discussions popular mind all memory of the radical differences of sentiment which bave so often arrayed onehalf our countrymen in fierce conflict with the other. Idle chimeras these! offspring of an empty heart or a sickly brain! With the progress of events a particular measure may become more or less important, the emphatic assertion of a certain principle more or less essential, but the question of questions remains and will remain. At ooe time, the establishment or maintenance of a Sonnd and Uniform Currency; at another, the upbuilding and cherishing of new or feeble branches of Home Industry; at another, the proper disposition of the Proceeds of the Public Lands; at a fourth Peace or War, Spoliation or Justice; but underneath all these, mightier than any, more enduring than all, lives ever the elemental difference in which par-ties have their origin—on one side the idea that Government should be CREATIVE, CONSTRUCTIVE, BENEFICENT; on the other, the negative, skeptical, do-nothing element, whose axioms are . The hest Government is that which governs least,' 'The People are inclined to expect too much from Government,' &c .- which sees in a Canal, a Railroad, a Harbor, a Protective Duty, only a means of enriching a few individuals at the expense of the community, and which cannot conceive how any can be benefited by a public work without inflicting injury in at least equal measure upon others. The fundamental axioms of this negative philoso-pby are really bostile to Common Roads and Common Schools required ond sustained by Law, as well as to those elements of National well-being sgainst which it now directs the energies of a great party. The antagonism of sentiment growing out of these conflicting views of the nature and true ends of Government cannot, in the nature of things, he lastingly compromised; it cannot be terminated hy the resolt of any one election. I must be potentially felt in the party contests ond popular agitations of many years to come.

On this and all the great questions growing out of it. The Tribune maintains emphatically the doctrines of the Whig Party. It advocates Protection to Home Industry, wherever such Protection may be needed, and to the extent of the necessity; a NATIONAL CURRENCY, sound ond of oniform value, composed of Coin and Paper in such proportions as oublic interest and general convenspace, shall dictate: [ANTENNAL IMPROVEMENT by]

154 Nassau-st. New-York. 'ence shall dictate; Internal Improvement, hy the General and Stat- Governments, each in its own sphere, and by Associations, liberally incited thereto hy such facilities as Legislation may safely and justly afford; and such disposition of the PUB-LIC LAND PROCEEDS as shall secure the benefit thereof to the People of all the States throughout all future time. Above all, this paper will study the things that make for Peace, and strennously oppose the fell spirit of War, the lust of Conquest and the passion for Military Glory, so mortally adverse to all the ideas of Social and Political Economy to which it is devoted, as a mildew to gennine Democracy, as atterly at variance with Christianity, and as a scandal to the Nineteenth Century These views will be faithfully and fearlessly commended to public favor; while our oppo- time subscribed and paid for.

We are on the eve of another Presidential Electristion to the Extension of Human Slavery over one tion. Let none fancy that, aince it is approached foot of soil where it has not now a legal existence

-THE TRIBUNE will endeavor to commend itself With this intent one Assistant Editor will remain at Washington during the Session of Congress, giving daily reports of sayings and doings in the Houses and elsewhere; two European Correspondents will transmit us regular dispatches from the Old World; while no expense will be gradged in procuring the earliest and most reliable information from all parts of the world. Reviews of New Books of decided interest and selections from the Popular Literature of America and Europe will be trequently given, with occasional reports of Public Lectures of high character; bot it shall be our first object to present a foir and full pictore of the real world, only varied at intervals by excursions into

-THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE is issued Daily (a Morning and two Evening Editions, in order to serve each subscriber with the latest news possible) on a fair imperial sheet at Five Dollars per annum. or half the price of the great Commercial journals, by which it aims to be sorpassed in nothing hnt advertisements. A SEMI-WEEKLY EDITION is issued on a similar sheet each Wednesday and Satorday, and afforded to sphecribers at Three Dollars per annum or $5 for two copies. THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE is printed on a sheet of nearly double the size of the Daily, and afforded at Two Dollars per annum, Six copies for $10, Ten copies for $15, or Twenty for $24—payment being invariably re-quired in advance. When the term paid for exquired in advance. When the term paid for expires, the paper is uniformly stopped, so that no man need hesitate to take it from an apprebension that he will be persecuted by duns or onable to get rid of the paper when tired of it. This rule has given offence to a few patrons of the non-paying. order, but the great majority seem to like it better than the old fashion.

It is not our custom to appoint Local Agents to solicit subscriptions, nor to place great reliance on Agents at all. But any person who is well enough known to be trusted by his neighbors may aid or if he will and beip bimself if he chooses, by taking this Prospectus and asking those who like The Tribune to hand him the money for a year, which he can remit at Club price and thus obtain pay for his time and trouble.
